Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a side cutter blade and more particularly, to a side cutter blade having a water-repellent film attached to an upper surface of a blade body which is formed of resin and a metal plate. 2. Description of the Related Art Conventionally, a side cutter blade which is used in combination with a reciprocating saw or a rotary saw is well-known. The side cutter blade is formed of a blade body made of a metal plate and a side cutter blade made of resin. A distal end of the side cutter blade is inserted into a cutting guide of a hand-operated cutting tool, such as a reciprocating saw or a rotary saw, and the cutting tool is operated to cut a workpiece. With the recent increase in the safety consciousness of the users, a waterproofing property of a blade body which is the main member of the side cutter blade has been enhanced to prevent the scattering of fine chips which may damage the eye and the skin of the users. The conventional blade body made of a metal plate has a waterproofing property of a solid structure, and it is difficult for fine chips to move through the blade body. However, the conventional blade body has a problem in that the weight is heavy and the cutting operation is not easy because the blade body is hard. As a solution for these problems, Japanese Patent Application Laid-Open No. 2003-151941 discloses a side cutter blade which includes a blade body made of a water-repellent resin and a metal reinforcing plate. The blade body is formed of an upper plate made of a metal plate and a lower plate made of a water-repellent resin. The top surface of the upper plate is formed of a film (water-repellent film). In this side cutter blade, the metal reinforcing plate is disposed between the lower plate and the upper plate, and the film is attached to a middle portion of the reinforcing plate. Accordingly, in the side cutter blade, the blade body is made of a metal plate and a water-repellent resin, and the lower plate and the upper plate are joined to each other by the metal reinforcing plate. Therefore, the blade body is not easily subjected to the cutting, and the cutting operation is easy. However, the water-repellent resin of the lower plate is not resistant to a cutting oil, and
